COUNTY SURVEY TO BE OF ASSISTANCE IN WELFARE WORK

MUCH VALUABLE INFORMATION IS GATHERED BY COMMIT-TEES OF MORE THAN 200 WORKERS

MAKING GOOD PROGRESS

Every Phase of Life Is Included in Investigations—Data Will be Available to All Organizations Engaged in Welfare Work

Good progress has been made in the community study of Outagamie county, according to Wilbur F. Maxwell, community study director of the American Red Cross. Enthusiasm of the various committees at work for the last ten days has given the task an impetus such as will make its completion rapid and satisfactory, he believes. Over 200 people have been busy engaged in seeking out information of such a nature as will prove valuable for a constructive program of service in the future.

"The survey will prove an invaluable aid toward community betterment," stated Mr. Maxwell. "Most cases where such surveys are conducted by outside experts, require months of investigation and in the end amount to nothing but a printed report which few people read. Outagamie county has gone out for itself in the interest of community development and is gathering the material for no other purpose than to evolve definite plans of action."

Analysis Information
When the facts are gathered in they will be compiled and analyzed by experts provided by state departments and various private organizations. The information will then be returned to the committee now working so diligently here, together with recommendations. The general survey committees will in turn recommend a program of activities which it seems best for each interested agency to undertake, designating those which public authorities should carry on and those which private organizations should handle. This will prevent duplication and neglected activities will thus be provided for. Each agency will decide for itself about accepting the recommendations.

Outagamie in Lead
Outagamie county is the first in Wisconsin to take up a community study on a large scale. The idea was adopted by the county chapter of the American Red Cross to promote community co-operation and the desire to relate its own program to the activities of the organization already existent. The study was therefore started as a joint undertaking of all organizations interested in civic betterment. Coming out of the war with a splendid record for public service, the Red Cross wanted to continue its usefulness without duplicating work done by other organizations. The suggestion of a community study met this purpose, and upon its recommendations depends the future program of the county Red Cross. It is expected that co-operation may be realized through the formation of some simple organization such as is used in other cities. Such a plan, it is stated, would avoid over-organization and make readily available expert assistance in solving local problems through national and state agencies.

Making Progress
The work of the health, housing and sanitation committee is progressing nicely. Part of its work is to compile vital statistics from the county records regarding diseases, births and other data. Work of various public health promotion organizations is also being looked into and recommendations made. The housing aspect of its work was found to be mostly a matter of financing the building of more houses, and not overcrowding to an unhealthy extent, or living in houses unfit for occupancy. It was decided that the proposed housing corporation was taking care of any needs in this line.

Family welfare studies met with some opposition at first because of the fear that personal information might become public, but upon assurance from the persons in charge that specific cases were wanted only as illustrations and not for identity, this work is progressing satisfactorily. The value of the study lies in discovering ways in which families are handicapped and whether anything is being done to relieve the condition. If sickness or misfortune is found to stand in the way of a family's progress the fact will be noted and one form of service will thus be apparent.

Considers the Children
The educational committee is not dealing with matters of curriculum or efficiency of teachers or methods, as appears to have been the impression. Its main consideration has been the physical well being of the children. Causes that hamper their progress in school are being looked into, such as under feeding, lack of home attention or other causes. Cases of retarded pupils are also being checked up to determine whether it was merely a case of entering school late, or if there are underlying reasons which can be eliminated. It is also planned to ascertain the reasons for absences, and to find out whether pupils leaving school are helped into industrial activity or whether they are allowed to drift.

French Chief Falls Out Of Moving Train

By United Press Leased Wire
Paris. — Paul Deschanel, president of France, was badly bruised but otherwise uninjured today when he fell from a moving train near Fontainebleau. The president was enroute to Menthon when the accident occurred.

According to his explanation, the president was taken with a "sore attack of the grip" during the trip and when he retired, closed all doors and windows to prevent catching additional cold.

Shortly after midnight, he said, he found the air too close in the compartment and endeavored to open a window in the car. The window stuck, but he managed to open it just as the train lurched. He lost his balance and was hurled out.

Fortunately the train was moving slowly. He was able to get up and make his way to the nearest railway station where his wounds were dressed.

COMMERCE CHAMBER SELECTS ILLINOIS MAN AS SECRETARY

HUGH G. CORBETT IS GIVEN POSI-TION—WILL TAKE CHARGE OF WORK WITHIN TWO WEEKS

Hugh G. Corbett, secretary of the Chamberlain, Ill., chamber of commerce for three years, has been elected secretary of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce, it was announced today. The appointment was made by a special committee empowered to make a selection. Mr. Corbett resigned from the Chamberlain chamber today and is expected to come here within two weeks.

The new secretary has had many years of experience in his work. Before going to the Illinois city he was connected with the Shaw Company, publishers of the magazine, "System," for nine years. He made a splendid record in Chamberlain, it was said.

Mr. Corbett came to Appleton recently for an interview with the local committee which consists of J. P. Frank, T. A. Gallagher and A. K. Ellis, W. C. Wing, president of the chamber, also attended this meeting.

PRICE CUTTING WILL CUT LIVING COSTS

CONGRESSMAN BELIEVES PRICES
WILL FALL BUT PROCESS WILL BE EXTENDING
LY SLOW

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington. — A permanent reduction in cost of living will result from price cutting sales in many parts of the country, according to Representative Cordell Hull, Tennessee, one of the best informed men in congress on finance and economics.

"I expect there will be a reaction of slightly higher prices following the present price cutting wave," Hull said today, "but in general, I believe the cost of commodities will be placed on a lower level."

"The cost of living will not tumble as fast as we might hope for, because of the conditions throughout the world. As long as there are sink holes here and there, which must be filled with food and other commodities, business and trade will not be on a normal basis and the delay in readjustment will have a checking on falling prices."

Hull said he expects food to remain high while clothing and other commodities will be sold at lower levels.

STRIKE DANGER PASSES AS COAL MINERS MEET

By United Press Leased Wire
Wilkes-Barre, Pa. — With John Lewis, international president of the United Mine Workers, confident that a strike will be averted, 500 delegates representing more than 175,000 anthracite mine workers, met in special reconvened district convention here today.

Propositions for settling the wage question to be placed before the convention, according to information here, are:

A tentative agreement prepared by William B. Wilson, secretary of labor, provides wage increases exceeding the 15 per cent advance offered by the operators prior to the deadlock and President Wilson's plan to appoint a commission of three members.

STARTED NAVY PLANS FOR WAR BACK IN 1915

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington, D. C. Secretary Daniels ordered drafting of plans for war with Germany in 1915, he told the senate naval affairs committee today. They were perfected by the navy board in February, 1917, he said, replying to criticisms that the navy had no war plans.

Elaborate plans for protecting the port of New York were included, according to Daniels.

WORKERS AWAIT "ZERO HOUR" IN HOSPITAL DRIVE

ARMY OF 200 SOLICITORS IS READY FOR "ZERO HOUR" WHEN CAMPAIGN OPENS
TOMORROW

BUSINESS PROPOSITION

Believed That 200 Bed Hospital Will Have Buying Power of New Industry Employing 1,000
Men Will Add To Appleton's Wealth

Two hundred Appleton men and women are keyed up to the biggest pitch as the "zero hour" for the campaign to raise $200,000 needed to build a 200-bed St. Elizabeth hospital approaches. Final preparations for opening the campaign tomorrow morning will be made at a meeting of 200 division heads, captains and workers at Elk hall at 6:30 o'clock this evening. Dinner will be served at that hour, to be followed by short explanations of the work confronting the army of solicitors. Cards will be distributed and final arrangements made for reporting progress of the workers.

Announcement of the campaign was made in practically all of the churches yesterday. In nearly every instance the parishioners were urged to contribute to the limit of their ability to this cause.

Daily meetings will be held during the campaign, if it lasts more than 48 hours, to check up the work. Every effort is being made, however, to end the drive by Wednesday night if possible.

The business end of St. Elizabeth hospital and what it means to Appleton from a monetary standpoint is being emphasized today. It is argued a 200 bed hospital has the buying power of a manufacturing establishment of at least 1,000 men.

It was pointed out that when the 200 beds are filled there are at least 200 people interested in the patients at the hospital and 200 persons will make purchases for the comfort of the sufferers. Of these 200 patients many will be from out of the city and they will attract several hundred other outsiders here to visit them. Many of these people perhaps would not come to Appleton for any other reason, but since here, they will be impressed with the city's mercantile establishments and may become regular patrons of the city.

It is estimated that patients are in the hospital on an average of 20 days. Every month 200 new patients are taken care of and 200 or more visitors are attracted to the city or to hospital. It is argued that from a monetary viewpoint alone, a new 200 bed hospital would be one of the city's greatest assets.

Supplies required by the hospital cost thousands of dollars a year and nearly everything required is purchased from Appleton merchants.

It is believed, however, that very few arguments will be required to induce Appleton people to give liberally in this campaign. It is quite generally agreed that Appleton needs a new hospital and that this is the time to make the effort. The sisters in charge have given $200,000 to start with and it is said that Appleton and adjacent territory will readily agree to give the remainder.

8,451 PEOPLE NOW CALL ANTIGO THEIR HOME CITY

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington. — The census bureau today announced the 1920 population results:

Norfolk, Va., 115,777; Meriden, Conn., 29,842; Burlington, Ia., 24,057; Meriden town, including Meriden city, Conn., 34,739; Antigo, Wis., 8,451.

Increases since 1910:
Norfolk, 46,325, or 71.6; Meriden township, including Meriden city, 2,673, or 8.3; Meriden, 2,577, or 9.5; Antigo, 1,255, or 17.4.

TWO ATTEMPTS TO SLAY CHICAGO LAWYER FAIL

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago. — State's Attorney McWay Hoyne was the intended victim of two assassins' bullets last night, an investigation today indicated.

The bullets fired into a room on the third floor of his home here narrowly missed Francis J. Hoyne, the prosecutor's 15 year old son. One bullet smashed into a mirror, passing a few inches from young Hoyne's head.

Young Hoyne closely resembles his father and authorities believed was mistaken for him. Two separate attempts to kill him were made. Police today worked on the theory the attacks were attempts to revenge recent prosecutions of murderers and gangsters.

MORE MINISTER AND LESS MONEY TALK IS URGED

By United Press Leased Wire
Philadelphia. — Churches should "talk more about ministers and less about millions," and should concern themselves "more about souls and less about surpluses," Dr. Matland Alexander, of Pittsburgh, declared in a sermon in connection with the general Presbyterian assembly here. Reports of standing committees were heard today, and several missionary meetings were held.

Requests for Increased Rates Apply

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago. — Railroad owners, thru E. T. Whittier, their spokesman, opened a new phase in the United States railroad labor board's hearing of demands of two million railroad workers for an annual increase of 250 million dollars today when he bluntly put to the board the question of back pay.

Back pay, should it be included in increases which may be granted would approximate close to one billion dollars, it was said.

Railroad workers were expected to seek back pay increases dating from July 1, 1919.

Whittier's query came when he sought to get a ruling on whether the board had authority to deal with increases sought before it was appointed. The board gave no answer. In the last first railroad clerk and freight handlers have had their wages tripled, said Whittier, in arguing against granting them increases of 34 to 62 per cent over present wages.

While the board held its hearing today, vice-presidents and general managers of thirty of the principal railroads in the Chicago district met to act to cut the freight car tie-up.

Washington. — The nation's railroads earned only one per cent on their property investment last year, interstate commerce commissioners were told here today at the opening of a hearing to fix new freight rates.

This statement was made by Howard Elliott, chairman of the rate commission of the association of railway executives, who began the argument on behalf of the roads for a general freight increase totalling $1,017,000,000 annually.

Under the transportation act, the interstate commerce commission must fix rates which will yield the roads a return of six per cent on their valuations.

The railroads now are confining their requests for rate increases to freight tariffs.

The rate increases now being asked to insure a six per cent return are figured on the basis of present operating costs, Elliott said. They take no account of increased operating expenses that will accrue if the railroad labor board grants 2,000,000 employees wage increases totalling $1,000,000,000 annually.

"The price of transportation," said Elliott, "has not increased nearly as much as the cost of producing it. Expenses generally have increased 100 per cent but revenue only 40 per cent. The country can not count on any large contribution in the net earnings through saving in expenses."

Elliott called attention to the fact that the railroads must now pay seven per cent to borrow money, whereas formerly they paid only four and five.

PRODUCTION MUST BE INCREASED TO CUT LIVING COSTS

NO CHANCE FOR LOWER PRICES

BRITISH FOOD HEAD
AVERS.

(By Charles M. McCann.)

By United Press Leased Wire
London. — Cereals as the controlling factor in the world's markets control other prices which can not satisfactorily and permanently be levelled until production and consumption of wheat and other staple grains are balanced, Charles McCann, British food administrator, said in an interview today.

"The peak of consumption has not been reached and will not be reached until Russia and central Europe have been restored to a peace-time basis, obtain credits and begin to bid on the world's markets," he said.

"The world has not yet awakened from the delusion prevalent at the time of signing of the armistice, that there would be an immediate return to normal conditions."

"Consumption of all commodities has increased, whereas there has been no increase in production. England's production has materially increased since the armistice, but the production of the world has not increased. Production in the United States showed a general decline in 1919."

"Under these conditions, prices can not fall far, since cereals control prices and form the greater part of the diet of the world's workers. Until the supply is increased, food, wages and commodities will continue to be high. "Regarding the restoration of production, I am an optimist. Signs of production are increasing, but such things are cumulative."

Campaign Fund Contained

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington. — Frank M. Hitchcock, campaign manager for Major General Leonard Wood, was the first witness called today by the senate subcommittee investigating campaign expenditures.

Hitchcock said he knew nothing about contributions to Wood's campaign fund and could only testify as to expenditures in a general way.

Hitchcock said $15,000 sent into New Jersey from the national headquarters of Wood's campaign, was the largest amount spent from the fund in any state.

Nothing in New York
In Maryland, he said, $12,500 was spent but in most states the allotment was less than $10,000. Some states got nothing, he said, citing New York, where he said local contributions financed the campaign. In the New England states, Hitchcock testified, the limit contributed to any state from Wood's national fund, was $5,000.

Senator Reed, a democratic member of the investigating committee, halted the questioning to demand the committee make a rule either to get specific testimony or to require a written statement.

The Michigan campaign, Hitchcock said, was financed by local people and no money was spent from the national funds. He could give no idea as to how much was raised in Michigan and Wisconsin, and nothing was sent from national headquarters to Rhode Island, Connecticut or Delaware.

Illinois and Ohio were financed from western headquarters, Hitchcock said, adding that he opposed contests in both these states.

Hitchcock said he knew nothing about disbursements from Chicago headquarters.

Tells of Extravagance
Dr. Randolph J. Hersey, Wheeling, W. Va., submitted a brief statement of the expenses of Senator Howard Sutherland's campaign. He said $473 was contributed and $445 of it spent for printing.

Hersey was questioned about Wood's expenditures in the state. "We wouldn't have had to spend as much as we did if it had not been for Wood's invasion," he said.

"Gross extravagance was indulged in on behalf of Wood. He came into the state just like a circus. They hired bands and had private street cars to carry Wood's speakers from town to town."

Angus McSweeney, Senator Hiram Johnson's eastern manager, was the next witness. He submitted a list of contributors and expenditures. He said the eastern organization consisted of three men, a woman and two stenographers. Alexander McCabe, state insurance commissioner of California, had charge of western headquarters.

One $27,000 Donation
The contributions, McSweeney said, totaled $68,130. The largest was from R. B. Strassburger, Morristown, Pa., who gave $27,000.

Among other contributors listed were:
Mayor James Couzens, Detroit, $5,000; San Francisco headquarters, $8,000.

LIBERTY BONDS DOWN; VICTORYS UP TODAY

By United Press Leased Wire
New York. — Liberty bonds showed an irregular price trend in early trading here today. The first issue of 3 1/2 per cent tax exempt bonds were quoted at 92.10, unchanged.

First and second 4's both showed a net loss of forty cents. The last week was attributed by financial observers to the stringency of the present credit situation. The rush for funds forced Liberty bonds to lower levels. Selling of Liberties by merchants and private individuals to pay for merchandise also aided in bringing down the war issue.

Victory bond issues, showed a slight increase over Saturday's closing prices, the 3 1/2's being up .06 at 96.05, and the 4's up .10 at 96.10. Third 4 1/2's at $8.40, were unchanged as were also the fourth 4's at $8.40.

Clark May Be Dark Horse At Frisco Meet

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington. — "Champ" Clark will be the "dark horse" of the San Francisco convention. If the plans of his closest friends and backers are successful, it was learned here today in democratic political quarters.

Believing that no one has the democratic nomination "cinched," Clark's friends plan to present his name at the first indication of a deadlock.

The former speaker of the house has several times stated he is not a candidate, but has indicated his willingness to accept the nomination "if drafted."

Clark backers are quietly making efforts to line up various delegations if the first few ballots show that none now leading in the primaries can be elected.

Reports have been circulated that differences between W. J. Bryan and Clark have been settled and that Bryan will back Clark at San Francisco.

Clark is also considered by politicians here as a likely compromise candidate between Wilson and anti-administration factions of the party. He has never taken sides in the treaty fight.

$500,000 DAMAGE IS CAUSED BY BIG MINNESOTA STORM

MUCH PROPERTY IS DESTROYED
BUT THERE IS ONLY ONE
DEATH—TWIN CITIES TO HELP

By United Press Leased Wire
St. Paul. — Reports from tornado stricken southeastern Minnesota today showed the damage was more extensive than at first believed.

State officials and local authorities were establishing communication with isolated districts today. No additional deaths were reported. The total damage in seven counties, however, will run over half a million dollars, it was believed.

Authorities at Rochester estimated the damage in Olmsted county would exceed $50,000. At Faribault, it was said the damage in the southeastern corner of Rice county would exceed $100,000.

Scores of valuable farm buildings were destroyed. This is a rich dairy country.

Damage in Dakota county including Castle Rock, will exceed $100,000, it was believed, and a similar figure was placed on the damage to scores of farms and many villages in Goodhue county.

Damage in Steele and Dodge counties will probably amount to $100,000 to $150,000, it was said.

St. Paul. — Twin City officials today were planning relief for the tornado-stricken districts in southeastern Minnesota.

More than 20,000 people visited the wreckage at Castle Rock yesterday. It was estimated, including many city and state officials.

The loss at Castle Rock alone is estimated at nearly $100,000, and over the half dozen places where wind storms developed the total damage is believed to be more than $300,000.

The only victim of the wind was the tiny baby of Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey Swanson near Red Wing. The baby was blown from its mother's arms when the wind struck.

Mr. and Mrs. Swanson and Mrs. Swanson's sister, who were injured, were believed recovering in a Red Wing hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Steele, and their son, Leslie Steele, injured at Castle Rock, will recover. Both the boy's legs were broken.

Scores of farm buildings were blown down and much farm machinery, such as plows and binders, were picked up and carried for half a mile or more in some instances.

30,000 TONS OF SUGAR GUARDED BY ARMED MEN

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago. Fifty thousand tons of sugar was guarded here today by government and railroad detectives armed with rifles.

Fearing an attempt to seize it and sell it at prices higher than that fixed by the United States district attorney here, guards were stationed in the railroad yards.

Reefer sugar dealers and the United States attorney agreed to fix the price at 28 cents retail.

BURGLAR GETS $5,000 WORTH OF DIAMONDS

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago. — Mrs. Lee Gosselin lost two diamond rings valued at $1,600 and $2,000, here last night when a burglar met her on the porch of her home. She was forced back into the dining room, where Mrs. George Edwards, Pulaski, Ill., her mother, was relieved of a $3,500 diamond ring. Mrs. George R. Brooks, a sister, from Omaha, Neb., had a six-months-old baby in her arms and was not molested.

For every 53 cents expended in the administration of the internal revenue laws during 1919, the Internal Revenue Bureau collected $100.

Mexico City. — A dingy little train of three wooden coaches today brought the remains of Venustiano Carranza, murdered president of Mexico, back to his former capital.

Drawn by a rusty, crippled engine, the train slowly puffed its way into the city at 5:50 a. m. on the narrow gauge railway.

Not more than 150 persons witnessed the arrival of the body. The faithful watchers, included most of the foreign diplomatic corps.

George Summerlin, the American charge, was conspicuous in a high silk hat.

Aides Escape Death

General Murguia, Aguirre, Berlinga, Ignacio Bonillas and General Urquiza, who rode to the city on the death train, abandoned it at the suburb of Guadalupe, finishing the journey by motor.

The brothers Cabrera were reported safe in a town in Puebla.

As the casket was lowered at the train there was a bugle blast. The "old guard" drew up in proud dignity to present arms, forming a martial column through which the procession started to the president's home.

As the procession neared the presidential home with the gray outlines of Chapultepec castle, the official residence of the rulers of Mexico, in the background — the situation reached a climax.

A window in the house was raised and four women leaned out. They were the two daughters and two nieces of the murdered president.

Suddenly the silence was pierced by a woman's scream.

"The traitors. They have killed him," she cried.

It was the Carranza daughter, Virginia.

Senor Ascona, acting foreign minister, today sent a telegram to Mexico's diplomatic corps saying the revolutionary government had directed a strong force to take up pursuit of Herrero and administer the death penalty

POWER OF KNOWING THINGS DISCUSSED BEFORE GRADUATES

DR. PEABODY DELIVERS BACCALAUREATE ADDRESS TO 100 HIGH SCHOOL SENIORS SUNDAY NIGHT

Power of knowledge and abuse of that power was discussed from many angles by Dr. H. T. Peabody, pastor of First Congregational church in the annual baccalaureate address before Appleton high school graduates in Lawrence Memorial chapel last evening. Dr. Peabody avowed that knowledge of man's mind and spirit is what really matters.

The one hundred members of the graduating class filed into the big chapel shortly before 7:30 o'clock. Prin. P. G. W. Keller, of the high school presided. Carlton Bullis, at the organ, rendered two selections after which Dr. Peabody delivered the invocation. A vocal solo by Dean E. A. Evans was followed by the baccalaureate address.

Dr. Peabody spoke in part as follows: "Knowledge is power. Knowledge wins. What chance does a tribe of ignorant savages, however bold, have in attacking the stockade of a white settlement which is armed with magazine rifles and a machine gun or two. The settlers know things; they know the laws of mechanics and explosives and they have an advantage beyond reckoning. Knowledge is power."

"And yet power and knowledge are not always a benefit. A locomotive engineer, of an excitable temperament, once had a nervous breakdown. But before he quit work he and his engine ran away with a freight train and killed half a dozen people. He had knowledge and power but they became a menace to everybody. The German Kaiser and his staff had knowledge and power but they and their machine ran away with civilization and killed half a dozen million people. It was a power for despotism, instead of for freedom. This matter of knowledge and power needs to be looked at more closely."

"Upon a little reflection we see that there are higher and lower ranks of knowledge and of truth."

"For example that ruling class of Germans were strong in certain kinds of truth and weak in other kinds. They probably knew more truth about chemicals, about coal, iron and all material things, and about the technical laws of business of a spirit is controlling that mind. Our mind is a servant and only a servant of our spirit, as truly as our body is. The spirit in man controls everything—and so, it is the truth that masters man's spirit, that is the all important thing to know."

"This truth of the spirit is the kind of truth that makes free. It frees everybody. This truth is a robust, masterful, chain-breaking thing. It is the secret of all real freedom everywhere."

"This highest rank of truth takes supreme command of all life as did Marshal Foch of all the armies of the allies,—and it says 'now obey me absolutely or else you will be slaves. If you obey me, you will all be free.' And its commands are these, 'Be men of good will and of justice always. Let the strong serve the weak, not use them. Live and die for the truth, be brotherly to all men. Love God and your neighbor.' This group of truths no one can use. He must serve them, not use them."

"This truth of the throne-room first masters the man who learns it, and by mastering him, it sets him free. First of all it makes him free within himself."

"And then it frees, according as this man has power, all men with whom he deals. His is the spirit which President Wilson expressed when he said during the war 'America asks nothing for herself but what she asks for all mankind.' America wanted to be free herself, and to the limit of her power and influence she wanted all other nations, small and than any other people on the planet. But when it came to the truth about the human mind and heart, and to the spiritual facts of the world, they seemed strangely dull, even stupid. They knew about all nature except her main features."

Different Kinds of Truths
"Their tragic blunder lay in the fact that they did not see that there are some kinds of truth that will serve a man whatever his purposes or race may be,—while there is another kind of truth that masters a man and enslaves him in its service."

"Truth about man's mind and spirit more than truth about his body is what matters. Because a man's body is merely the servant of his mind and whatever controls his mind controls his body also. His body is only an instrument, a mere tool which his mind uses."

"But one's mind too is only an instrument, a mere tool. There is another still higher part of man, which controls his mind. After you know that one has great intellectual power, you have a yet higher question to ask, before you know whether he is a benefit or a menace to his neighbors. That question is—to what use is he putting his mind. What kind great, to be free also. That is, this kind of truth makes free everybody concerned. There is no greed in it, no oppression, nor disposition to oppress in it anywhere. It works for universal freedom."

"And in the end it is going to succeed. It will make free all mankind. 'It's coming yet for a' that, that man to man the world o'er, shall brethren be, and a' that.' And we believe it because we believe that this highest rank of truth, this spirit, is the most essential dominant thing deep in the heart of mankind and of nature and of God himself. That is our faith and it is a stupendous, daring faith."

"And now, my hearers all, and especially my young friends of this graduating class, be assured that you will be wholly free only by becoming the obedient, humble servants of this truth of the throne-room. You will become gloriously free by yielding yourself to its cause in the world. For this truth and its principles have a cause, that is yet far from won in the world. There are many who still heap reproach upon this highest rank of truth and sneer at it."

"You will become free and will make others free by enlisting under its banner, by taking the risk of its present reproach, by believing in it against all contradictions, by being willing to live for it, and to suffer and die for it when necessary."

"The truth shall make you and the world free, and nothing else will. The truth embodied in true men shall do this. You will believe in that method of making mankind free, instead of believing in the 'force methods' or the 'wealth method.' Now force and wealth have their place in mankind's striving for freedom, but they are very subordinate and negative agents."

"The world's only road to freedom is by way of the spirit and truth of Him who said: 'If ye abide in my word, ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free.' Neither wealth nor force can ever make mankind free. We have had two tremendous, entirely convincing demonstrations of this in recent years. In the year 1914 the nations were rich as never before. And yet they found themselves enslaved to greed and lust of power, and they were rushed helplessly on by these slave drivers toward the abyss of hate and world war into which they plunged."

"In the year 1920 force has done its utmost to make the world free, and force calls itself victorious. And yet the wealth method and the force method have left the world today, having miserably slid all the way down the mountain side of heroism, in the miry slough of greed and lust of power. We seem helplessly in bondage to the same old sinister forces that dragged us into one world war, and that will drag us on, straight along the same old road, at the present rate, into another world war, for the same reasons. Whoever again will believe that force can make man or the nations free. We must find a better, stronger method or we are lost."

"Truth's challenge to all Americans, is to espouse the truth that makes men and the nations free."

"Your temptation will be to relapse into the old ante-bellum game of the supreme ambition for money, for material success and power. America is wallowing in that slough today—as in another form are the nations of Europe, all idealism seeming smothered and gone. Look about us and we see on every hand individuals and classes struggling and wrangling for money and their own class advantage, regardless of the general welfare, the welfare of the community, the nation or the world."

"Your temptation in trying to make a success of life, will be skillfully somehow to suck money out of the general prosperity, as a boy sucks an orange. Hundreds of men called successful are in the main suckers on the public prosperity, instead of having a mind to contribute to it as public spirited citizens. Christians and patriotic Americans."

"All these men know of the truth is just how they can use that part of it that will serve their selfish ends. They know nothing and want to know nothing of the truth which they must serve, which makes them and mankind free. It seems as if we must turn with pleading, for help to the youth of the nation and to the women who are just now coming into power. The old men of the country and of the other nations have made such a horrible mess in the last decade of

BODY OF MISSING MAN IS FOUND IN RIVER AT KAUKAUNA

MYSTERY OF DISAPPEARANCE IS CLEARED UP WHEN GEORGE CHEMELE'S BODY IS RECOVERED.

The mystery of the disappearance of George CHEMELE, Oneida, a workman in the Combined Locks Paper company's plant, was cleared up Sunday morning when his lifeless body was found floating in the Fox river above the Kaukauna dam. The man had been missing since May 14, when he was last seen in Kaukauna.

His wife and the district attorney were notified immediately by R. H. McCarty, chief of police at Kaukauna, who took the body to a Kaukauna undertaking establishment. It had been planned to hold the funeral this morning, probably at Kaukauna.

Chief McCarty made a thorough examination of the man's body but found no evidence of foul play. The police chief's investigation indicated a mental breakdown on the part of CHEMELE. It was said, family differences are said to have been the cause.

CHEMELE was employed in the heater room of the Combined Locks mill. He "punched in" the time clock on the morning of May 13, but did not punch out that night. He was seen the next day in Kaukauna, it was said.

known as "shooting craps" had much to do with the downfall of Achilles A. Black, a local youth, who pleaded guilty to forging five payroll checks of the Bergron Paper Co. of Neenah. He took the blanks at a local printing shop, where he worked, and paid off crap game debts with the forged paper, he told the judge. A plea was made to have him placed on probation instead of giving him a term at the state reformatory and the court took the matter under advisement.

BABY NAMED LYDIA E.

Because Her Mother Was Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Brooklyn, N. Y.—"I could not write all my thanks for your blessed medicine, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was in a very bad condition and had lost two babies. One of my good friends told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and after I had taken eight or ten bottles I felt like a different woman. I kept on taking it until my baby girl was born last month and we have had her christened Lydia Elizabeth. I wish you to publish my letter to benefit other women who are suffering as I was."—Mrs. KATHLEEN KURZACKER, 1085 Manhattan Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Women who suffer from any feminine ailment should not lose hope until they have tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

The many convincing testimonials constantly published in the newspapers ought to be proof enough for women who suffer from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the medicine they need.

What pupils do with their spare time is being studied by the recreation committee. Pupils in the sixth and eighth grades and in the third year of high school were given questionnaires during the last week on which to note what they did with their time on two specific days. The resulting information is said to be highly interesting and enlightening. It is found that some homes furnish recreation for the children and that parents themselves join with the young folk in it. Commercialized recreation centers also come in for a share of attention, the nature of the amusement, supervision and other features being reported. Reports are also being secured from various organizations which have recreational facilities.

Study Court Records.

The question of the community's failure to meet its obligations to the delinquent children occupies the attention of the delinquency committee. Court records are undergoing study to find out the extent of the problem in the county, and interviews are held with teachers, manufacturers and others. Constructive suggestions for lessening this condition are expected to result from the survey.

One single committee in each village and township conducts the study outside of Appleton, except in Kaukauna where a separate organization similar to the local one is maintained. A simplified questionnaire placed in the hands of each township committee elicits all the survey information needed. Some of these have already been returned by mail and others have been collected by survey workers. Health problems among rural children are being taken care of largely by the county nurse.

"The whole aim of the study in the county as related to the city will be to show the necessity for recognition on the part of the city of its responsibility towards the county," stated Mr. Maxwell. "We wish to point out ways in which not only the rural communities can go ahead to solve their own problems, but how the city may best furnish leadership."

MUSCLES WERE TIED IN KNOTS

THAT IS THE WAY CARPENTER FELT—LOST MUCH TIME FROM HIS WORK

"I have gained fifteen pounds in weight since I started taking Tanlac, and it has done me so much good I just want to tell everybody about it," said August Solberg, a carpenter, 384 Walker street, Milwaukee, Wis.

For the past ten years I had suffered terribly from rheumatism in my legs, arms and shoulders, and do what I could I continued to get worse. The rheumatism in my legs was so bad at times they would swell so I could scarcely walk, and I would just have to lay off from work for days at a time. The muscles in the calves of my legs and above my knees sometimes felt like they were drawn into knots and would get so sore I could not bear to touch them. My arms and shoulders pained me about all the time, and became so stiff and hurt me so bad I could not raise my hands to my head, and it was just about all I could do to get my clothes on in the mornings. My back and hips also pained me continually, and my back was so weak I could scarcely pick up anything at all. Then, too, I was subject to severe dizzy spells and would have to grab hold of something to keep from falling. Every move I made caused me intense suffering and I could get no relief either sitting or lying down or standing up, and it was impossible for me to get a good night's sleep. In fact, I was so badly run-down and in such bad condition every day I was just about past going when I began taking Tanlac, let alone doing any work.

"Well, Tanlac has just about made a new man out of me. Why, I began to improve almost with the first dose, and as I continued taking it I continued to improve until today I am absolutely free of the rheumatism and never have a pain of any kind in my legs, arms, shoulders, back, or anything else. I never get dizzy any more, sleep as sound as a log every night and have regained my strength so I work every day, and can bend around and lift things as easily as I ever could in my life. I think Tanlac is a remarkable medicine, and I hope by telling what it has done for me I will be benefiting some one else."

Tanlac is sold in Appleton by John E. Voigt; F. O. Town, Shiocton; Dr. J. M. Sattler, Bear Creek.

MRS. MARY NEWCOMB WAS LAST LEAF ON THE MCGILLAN TREE

DEATH REMOVES LAST OF WELL KNOWN OUTAGAMIE COUN. TV PIONEER FAMILY

The death of Mrs. Mary Newcomb at her home on Cherry street Friday night removes the last member of the McGillan family which for over seventy years had taken an active part in the development of Outagamie county.

The family consisted of five sons and two daughters, Robert, James, John, Thomas and Samuel and Mrs. Mary Newcomb and Mrs. Margaret Cooney. They were the children of Mr. and Mrs. Francis McGillan who emigrated from Ireland shortly after their marriage.

Before coming to Outagamie county in 1848 Mr. and Mrs. McGillan made their home for several years in Ohio. On removing here the family took up land in the town of Freedom which was then a wilderness.

Robert and John were the only members of the family to continue as farmers. Samuel died early in life. James made his home in Appleton and was a surveyor and timber cruiser, and Thomas also lived in Appleton, where he held several county offices.

Later he moved to Baraga, Mich., where he conducted a store for several years prior to his death. Mrs. Margaret Cooney died at Norway, Mich., where she made her home for several years.

SCOUTS SHOW WHAT THEY CAN DO ON 5TH ANNIVERSARY DATE

YOUNGSTERS PITCH CAMP AND SPEND DAY DEMONSTRATING THINGS THEY HAVE LEARNED

The fifth anniversary of the organization of Troop 1 of Appleton Boy Scouts was celebrated Saturday with a big program. Various demonstrations of scouting work were performed by the boys.

The lot at College Avenue and Superior streets was used as the camping place. Four tents, a wall tent and three pup tents, were erected in the camp. Signaling towers were built on the lot, and a bridge across the cellar on the lot was also constructed.

A demonstration of relay signaling was given by the signaling squad. Two scouts occupied the city water tank and two were stationed on the roof of Pettibone store. Two other scouts were on the roof of the armory. A message from the scouts on the tank was relayed from Pettibone's to the armory.

A demonstration was given by the First Aid squad in the afternoon. The squad was notified of an accident at College Avenue and Morrison streets by a semaphore message, and sped to the scene of the accident. The injuries of the boy were bandaged, and the lad taken to the camp for further treatment.

A clever demonstration in fire fighting was also given by the scouts, under the direction of Chief George P. McGillan. The scouts sealed the Globe hotel and carried up hose to the roof. The water was turned on, and the boys played the water to true firemen's style.

The program was under the leadership of Leigh Hooley, scoutmaster, who has drilled the various squads.

The day's program:

- 8:15 Flag raising.
- 9:00 Bridge and Tower building.
- 9:30 Relay Signalling.
- 1:00 Pyramid building.
- 12:00 Mess.
- 1:00 Games.
- 2:00 First Aid.
- 2:45 Fire Squad.
- 4:00 Tracking.
- 5:00 Retreat.

MENASHA WINS FROM KIMBERLY SUNDAY

POLISH TEAM SLIPS INTO THIRD PLACE IN VALLEY LEAGUE BY TROUNCING MILLMEN

Menasha defeated Kimberly, 7 to 4, in the only game played in the Fox River Valley baseball league Sunday afternoon. The game was played at Menasha. The Kaukauna-Oshkosh tilt at the Electric city was called off because of muddy grounds.

Menasha's victory was the second straight for the Peles, who got off to a bad start by losing to Appleton and Kaukauna. The Peles have been considerably strengthened since the opening of the season and look like strong contenders for the flag.

By virtue of the win, Menasha slipped into a tie for third place with Kimberly.

The standings:

| | W. | L. | Pct. |
|------------|----|----|------|
| New London | 2 | 1 | .667 |
| Oshkosh | 2 | 1 | .667 |
| Menasha | 2 | 2 | .500 |
| Kimberly | 2 | 2 | .500 |
| APPLETON | 1 | 2 | .333 |
| Kaukauna | 1 | 2 | .333 |

received at the postoffice. A bill that has been pending in congress for some time was recently passed, giving a minimum wage to enlisted men of from $33 to $54 a month, according to the classification. Petty officers now receive from $60 to $80, and chief petty officers from $90 to $126, depending on the rating they hold. Recruiting officers believe that this will greatly stimulate enlistments in the navy. Lodging and medical attention are given in addition to the above pay rates.

Oscar Kunitz was at Shawano yesterday, where he conveyed a patient to a Green Bay hospital in his ambulance.

PREDICT REDUCTION IN CROP OF WHEAT

By United Press Leased Wire

Washington—A winter wheat crop of approximately 500,000,000 bushels was forecast today by the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Last year's winter wheat crop was 731,636,000 bushels, according to reports of the United States agriculture department.

The department's estimate of 484,647,000 bushels is based on reports May 1.

The short crop estimate for 1920 is due, the chamber stated, to a scarcity of farm labor and a "natural disinclination of the farmer to commit his land too largely to a crop whose price he expects to decline when the government guarantee is removed."

SCHOBER AND JAP WINNERS AT MADISON

BOTH MEN FLOP OPPONENTS AFTER HARD BATTLES IN MADISON RING SATURDAY NIGHT

Both Matty Matsuda and Billy Schober were returned victorious in their bouts at Madison Saturday night. The Jap won from Kid Olson in two straight falls, while Schober flopped Jack Boyer of Cincinnati, two of the three falls. The deadly toe hold was the cause of Boyer's defeat. Schober lost the first fall in 22 minutes. Boyer using a double bar lock and scissors to turn the trick. The City grapplers had an advantage of 20 pounds in weight.

Matsuda won the first fall from Olson in 32 minutes, with a full body and head lock. The Jap took the second fall with a combination grapevine and double wrist lock with a reverse Nelson for good measure. It took 23 minutes to turn the trick.

The bout was exceedingly fast and clean and the all-star card made a big hit with the crowd.

The contest was called off about noon when it was seen that the playing field would be in no condition for fast baseball.

CONGRESSIONAL INCOMPETENCY

There is sudden and great turmoil in congress over the high cost of living. With the nominating conventions at hand and the presidential election only five months off the politicians find themselves face to face with the troublesome question whether they shall adjourn and go into the campaign with or without action to bring down the cost of living and to really attack profiteering. Both parties are apprehensive over the situation, and well they may be, for there has been no honest effort either by congress or the department of justice to get at the heart of this issue. There has been inflated oratory directed at the profiteer and the usual proposals of remedies by the attorney general and political leaders, but to date nothing has been done. It is of no consequence to review the record, for there is no record to review.

Last August President Wilson delivered to congress a message dealing with the high cost of living. He made a number of specific recommendations, including the following:

- Extension of the life of the Lever food control act to the date of ratification of the treaty of peace, and extension of its scope to cover fuel, food and clothing; also, an amendment to provide a penalty for profiteering.
- Enactment of a law limiting the period during which goods may be held in cold storage; also a law requiring that goods be marked with the prices at which they were placed in cold storage.
- Enactment of a law requiring that all goods destined for interstate commerce be marked with the price at which they left the hands of the producer.
- Enactment of a law to license and regulate corporations engaged in interstate commerce in order to prevent profiteering.
- Enactment of a law to control security issues to prevent speculation.

Seven measures in all were suggested. Congress listened attentively to the president's recommendations, and then proceeded to forget them. Upon not a single proposal has it acted. Nine months have passed and the record is blank. Not only did it ignore the remedies laid before it, but it failed to evolve any of its own. In the meantime, on December 2 last, the president renewed his suggestions to congress for legislation to lower the cost of living, and vigorously called attention to its failure to do anything in the premises. He offered two more proposals, one to extend the Lever act for a period of six months after the signing of peace and the other to give publicity to profiteering. There was no response whatever to the president's messages.

The president in his August message asserted that the department of justice had power to draw foods out of cold storage and that it would be done by legal process "wherever necessary." Everyone knows the department of justice has made no impression upon the storage business and that hoarding has gone on just the same, with speculative corners or at least speculative manipulation of stocks and prices.

A senator on the floor Saturday asked for action upon a resolution which has been pending for six months, the purpose of which is to give publicity to profiteering through use of the excess profits tax returns. This incident reveals how industriously congress has been engaged in solving the cost of living problem. Its windjammers have flayed the atmosphere with tirades against the profiteer for consumption of the people back home, while they have winked the other eye at months of the worst speculation, all tending to inflate values and increase prices, the country has ever witnessed.

So far as this issue is concerned the incompetency of congress is glaringly established, and the incompetency of the parties is only measured by the extent of their membership in the house and senate. It is not at all a question of party responsibility. It is rather late to come to the rescue of the people now. The insincerity of the belated and frantic attempts to "set congress right" on the cost of living issue is proven by the fact that they are actuated solely by the impending elections. What the country should do is to turn out the present congress almost bodily and elect new material with the determination that if it too proved delinquent and incompetent the same medicine would be again applied. All the eleven-hour talk in house and senate about going after the profiteer is as dishonest as it is grotesque. It might be well to single out the men who are doing the talking and see that they in particular do not return. There is hardly a man in congress with enough courage to tackle a profiteer if he saw one coming down the street labeled.

THE ASSASSINATION OF CARRANZA

The mystery surrounding the assassination of Carranza is not cleared up by the telegraphic exchanges between "out-raged" generals in the dwindling Carranza party and Gen. Obregon. There is a suspicion of a story half told in these messages, together with undue solicitude over the placing of responsibility. At any rate, Carranza met the fate of Madero, with possible modification as to details. It is the Mexican way of disposing of presidents who have outlived their usefulness or who stand in the way of ambitions. That the crime may result in fresh complications in the relations between the United States and Mexico is not unlikely. President Wilson's declaration of policy touching the overthrow of governments and the killing of their heads, laid down at the time of the Huerta coup, still presumably holds. Just how it may effect the situation created by the assassination of Carranza remains to be disclosed by further developments.

The death of Carranza is a loss to Mexico principally in the national reproach it casts. Mexico made no real progress toward political or economic regeneration during his presidency. He was too much consumed with his own vanities of power and wisdom to fill the creative place the republic needed filled. He early forfeited the confidence and respect of the American people by his impudent diplomacy. As for the Mexican people, they gradually fell away from him as time went on and conditions grew no better. Nevertheless, Carranza had his good points as well as his faults, one of which was a tenacity of purpose seldom found in Mexican character, together with a certain code of honor that was rigidly upheld. His sympathies were with the people, but they were academic and idealistic. He did nothing practical to compel or encourage reform. One of his worst political blunders was the selection of Bonillas, his representative at Washington, to succeed him in the presidency. This had a great deal to do with precipitating the revolution and preventing a peaceful transition of the government.

The successors to temporary power in Mexico are not known as exceptionally strong men. Obregon is popular, but he has many weaknesses, not the least of which is excessive egotism and susceptibility to flattery. He has not exhibited any qualities of real statesmanship during the seven or eight years he has been prominently before the people and seems to be somewhat a soldier of fortune. Gonzales does not appear to carry any stronger recommendations.

While the future of Mexico is probably as uncertain as ever, the mere fact that there is to be a change will be accepted with hopefulness that it may be for the better.

WHEN SHOULD THE OLD MAN RETIRE?

Nearly every one who has the habit of taking a long vacation once a year knows from experience that it is a bad habit. Doctors find an unusually lot of work to do right after the annual vacation orgy. The recuperation appears to be too strenuous. The dose is too large. It is better to divide it into twelve or fifty-two small doses. Fifty-two half-holidays a year, if devoted to work or play that is a radical change from the regular vacation; or a week off in each of the four seasons instead of a month of summer vacation; moderate doses of more frequent intervals are better for the health.

Work hard when you work. Sail in and make the dust fly. Even if you are working for some one else there is an extraordinary amount of satisfaction for yourself, and you never can tell when it may even be noticed by the boss, if you work hard. Loafing on the job is much harder than burning the job up all the time. Work hard when you work. Don't be afraid of that bogey of "overwork." "Overwork" is just a conventional bit of camouflage used to explain infortunes which are none of the public's business.

If you know how to live overwork need never worry you. But you must know how to play as well as you work. There's where a lot of old geezers fall down badly. They get married to their work and after they've lived with it a few years they find it has them tethered. Cultivate an avocation which will usurp more and more of your interest and time as the years roll along. Something modest to begin with, something in which there is room to grow, something as foreign as possible to your ordinary pursuits. Oh, there are thousands of fine avocations. Take hold of one before you arrive at the "ret" period of life. Let it encroach insidiously upon your regular occupation. Eventually let it usurp your chief interest, displace your vocation, so that your friends will never know just whether or when you retire. Let your avocation sustain your income or not, as may be necessary, but let it be the means wherewith to forestall that void which comes with sickening abruptness upon him whom retires from busy life to a life of idleness.

Theodore Roosevelt set a perfect example in this up to the time of the accident which terminated his glorious career. He balanced politics and statesmanship against literature, hunting against history, and he retained the vigor and courage of youth at sixty.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Johnny, Cough for the Ladies
I want you to write me everything there is to know about neurasthenia. I want all the facts, with no reservations. Go into details and make it perfectly clear to me. I want to know just how it should be treated, the diet, medicines, baths, or other treatments. Write me fully about this. (C. D. M.)

ANSWER—You remind me of the little boy who had an elephant cough. His mother used to call him in from his play, when visitors were present, to cough for the ladies.

My dear friend, I should be delighted to give a private song and dance for you if I thought it would do you any good. If I have a mission, it is to suggest health, not disease.

Eggs and Meat

Are eggs injurious to the blood if eaten three times a day in place of meat? (B. O. E.)
ANSWER—Not to the blood particularly. Eggs are meat, to all practical purposes, and three times a day is three or four times too often for any but a muscular worker to take meat. Three times a week is often enough for sedentary adults to take meat. School children or growing children should have meat, eggs, fish or cheese once a day.

For Chapping and Irritation

What do you recommend for chapping and redness or irritation of the skin? (D.)
ANSWER—Boric Acid 4 drams
Glycerin 1 ounce
Tricacanth (in scales) 80 grains
Water 1 pint
Boil, stirring constantly, till all dissolved. The result should be a jelly of fluid consistency. Apply come to the skin two or three times a day after bathing and while the skin is still moist. This tends to whiten the skin.

ENGLISH MAIDS MUST GO TO SCHOOL
London.—Mistresses and maids alike are interested in the education law recently enacted. It requires that servants who ceased school at 14 must now return to "continuation school" and attend there until they are 16 years old. THE BOOK OF ANN

The Case of Ann's Mother Brings Us to the Question of Divorce

"I am loved" or "I am not loved." repeated Ann's mother. "No compromise! No excuses! Girls nowadays have wonderfully clear ideas of love's values. I should think the modern girl's definiteness would rob all most any pharisaic husband of his joy in 'The Quest.' A man hates to have a woman see through that particular lure. When he follows the law of nature she persists in considering him weak! That wounds him. And he hates to have his family disrupted. Man is a lot more conventional than woman, I think. He likes to be very respectable. I found that out when I procured my divorce."

I breathed hard with astonishment. Mother looked up with sudden sympathy. Chrys in a cigarette. We had supposed that Mrs. Best was a widow. Just taken it for granted. One couldn't imagine that a man who had loved that woman would ever risk giving her a cause for jealousy.

"I think I would better tell you my story," Ann's mother continued. Evidently she wasn't going to identify herself insistently with the forlorners if we considered her divorcee because she was a divorcee.

"Please do not tell us anything which will pain you," said mother.

"It doesn't hurt any more—not a bit," replied Mrs. Best. "You will understand that when I have finished."

"Then please tell us," said Chrys. "I'm extremely interested in the divorce question. It's going to loom large in politics some day. Our divorce laws must be changed—made uniform, you know—and equally just for men and for women."

"The big political parties are not likely to make any reforms, unless women demand them," mother remarked. "But since women are the principal sufferers from divorce, they are bound to bring about reforms—now that they have the vote."

"But first, a lot of them have to be educated. All those who regard a man as 'a meal ticket' have got to be put to work to support themselves. And, mother, woman must get away from your pet notion that she must always suffer and endure in the name of love," said Chrys. "That's perfectly absurd. It makes woman a slave. Man has taken advantage of that kind of martyrdom since the dawn of creation, and now he doesn't know when he is imposing on woman! Most of us could profit by Jane's idea. Love is—or it isn't. Love is like mathematics. One minus one leaves nothing. Man seems to think it is like a worm: he can cut it into small parts, and each will grow into a new, complete and perfect love!"

"That's exactly what my husband pretended!" exclaimed Mrs. Best. "He felt sure that his nature couldn't be satisfied by one heart experience. He had the artistic temperament. He felt perfectly qualified to respond to a variety of romantic pulls, and, at the same time, to love me to my own satisfaction!"

"He insulted your intelligence, but was that astonishing? Wives have accepted his theory as part of their duty. They marry for better or worse, you know. Women haven't ever really tried to make men live by the single moral standard."

"And so men are considered 'good sports' if they do not lie to other men, if they do not cheat other men although they cheat a woman silly enough to permit it." This from Chrys the cynic. "And we are not going to cure that thing by the vote."

"How then, if ever?" I asked.

"Women must demand as much as they give. There must be fairness and squareness between men and women, just as between men who are pals."

"I suppose divorce is a lot deeper than the ballot," I ventured. "It's as deep as love itself. Honest love—or none at all. When will women demand that? Not to deceive the other—not to defraud the other that would be perfect love, wouldn't it?"

"If men and women could live by that standard, we wouldn't require a marriage ceremony to protect the home," mother.

G.O.P. Convention Snap-Shots
The Story of 16 Nominations
By A. H. VANDENBERG

Sixth Convention

The sixth Republican National Convention was the first to do the really unexpected thing. When it assembled in Cincinnati, June 14, 1876, centennial year three great Republican leaders stood out beyond the crowd. They were James G. Blaine of Maine, who had but recently vacated himself from the insinuations of corruption in the infamous "Mulligan letters" episode, and whose name was presented to the Convention by Robert G. Ingersoll in an oratorical gem which will live as long as jewels of speech are cherished; Roscoe Conkling of New York, one of the ablest debaters of all time, but arrogant and unapproachable and utterly lacking in personal popularity; and Oliver P. Morton, Indiana's great and splendid war governor.

There were other candidates, largely of the so-called "favorite son" type—although Benjamin H. Bristow of Kentucky was sufficiently formidable to muster 112 votes on the first ballot.

Six roll calls failed to name a choice, although Blaine led all the way by wide margin. On the sixth ballot he had 308 votes; Bristow, 111; Conkling, 81; Hartranft of Pennsylvania, 50; Hayes of Ohio, 113; Morton, 85; Washburne of Illinois, 4; Wheeler of New York, 2.

On the seventh ballot the field combined against Blaine—that being Conkling's chief political aim in the convention and a crack in the votes nominated Hartranft. B. Hayes, with results that all but led to civil war were reached the White House by a majority of one in the electoral college. William A. Wheeler was nominated for Vice President by acclamation.

The platform declared "The United States of America is a nation, not a league," demanded the courageous enforcement of the new Constitutional amendment, attacked polygamy, charged democracy with "still being the same in character as when it sympathized with treason," and reiterated, practically everything that had been promulgated four years previously.

The Convention of this year also abolished the "unit rule" of voting—so that a delegate might be free to vote as an individual, instead of being bound by a majority of his state.

FARMER SUICIDES WITH DYNAMITE CAP

Cintonville. — Herman Bressler, aged 65 years, a farmer in the town of Dupont, Waupaca county, committed suicide by placing a dynamite cap in his mouth, the charge breaking his jaw and destroying his brains. The body was found by his wife in the pig pen.

Bressler had lived on his 120 acre farm for 36 years and had been fairly successful, but had been ill and worried over debts.

He leaves besides the widow a sister, Mrs. Ebert of Milwaukee, and two brothers also of that city, besides children who live on his farm.

NEWS OF OUTAGAMIE COUNTY AND WISCONSIN

TARGET SHOOTING TO BE FEATURED

NATIONAL GUARDSMEN WILL BE GIVEN ADDITIONAL PAY FOR GOOD MARKSMANSHIP.

Madison, Wis.—With the change in weather, members of the national guard throughout the state have taken to the rifle ranges in their initial practice of the season. The shooting this year means more to the soldiers than in the past, for qualification as marksmen, sharpshooters, or expert in the army course means additional pay for armory drill for the entire year following the qualification. There are three National Defense trophies awarded to the companies qualifying the most marksmen.

Today orders were sent all company commanders that the instruction course would be that laid down in the Small Arms manual, consisting of: Slow Fire, Target A, 200 yards, 5 shots prone, 5 kneeling, 5 sitting; 300 yards, 5 prone, 5 sitting; target B, battle sight, 200 yards, 5 shots kneeling, 5 standing; 300 yards, 5 prone, 5 sitting; rapid fire, target D, 200 yards, 1 minute, 10 shots kneeling or sitting from standing; 300 yards, 1 minute 10 seconds, 10 prone from standing.

The record course will consist of 5 shots kneeling and 5 standing at 200 yards and 5 prone and 5 sitting at 300 yards. The rapid fire will be the same as in the instruction course. As soon as a soldier completes his instruction course he may fire for record, the total points for qualification being: marksmanship, 150, first class 120, second class 100 out of a possible 200.

For those firing the Army record course, 300, 500 and 600 yards slow fire and 200, 300 and 500 yards rapid fire, who have no 300 and 1,000 yard ranges on the home range will be given an opportunity to fire those distances during the regimental encampment.

The history will be based on material collected by the American Red Cross. Prof. Ross undertook the work at the request of the American Red Cross. The documents are now being translated at Washington.

POLICE FIGHT THUGS IN PRISON'S SHADOW

POLICEMAN SURPRISES BURGLARS AT WORK IN STORE AND RECOVERS BATTLE ENSEMBLES

Wauwatosa, Wis.—A gun battle in which more than 30 shots were fired took place here Thursday at 3 a. m. when a gang of four burglars attempted to rob the Lemmings & Hull store, two blocks from the state penitentiary.

Charles Clover, chief of police, and Patrolman Ringham surprised the burglars at their work. Immediately on their entrance into the store, the gang opened fire. The policemen emptied their guns, shooting at the flashes in the dark. Windows, show-cases and counters were shattered. Neither policeman was injured.

Escape in Automobile
The men ran from the rear door of the store and escaped in an automobile which they had parked a block away.

Dozens of persons aroused by the shots thought a prison escape was being attempted. The burglars were discovered at work by Ringham. He summoned the chief and they entered the front of the store with a pass key.

Select Women's Clothing
Clothing, women's gowns and other apparel, valued at more than a thousand dollars, had been taken out and piled up by the gang before it was interrupted.

PICNIC SUPPER
There will be a picnic supper for the Appleton Woman's Club on Tuesday, May 25. Members are requested to bring their own lunches and gather at Albia Park at five o'clock. Coffee will be furnished by the committee. If the weather is unfavorable for an outdoor picnic the party will be at the Vocational school, at the same hour.

WHITEWATER EDUCATOR TO HEAD EAU CLAIRE HIGH

Eau Claire, Wis.—The place in the commercial department of the Eau Claire high school recently made vacant when the school board discharged Prof. Kenneth Taylor, head of that department, for a published criticism of the board as being responsible for the recent strike of 100 members of the high school Overall club, has been filled, the board having engaged D. H. Hickey, Whitewater, Wis. The high school faculty some days ago petitioned the board to reinstate Mr. Taylor, and this was followed by a similar petition signed by 205 citizens, but the appointment of Mr. Hickey is the board's answer.

BIG INCREASE IN VALUE OF BADGER DAIRY PRODUCTS

PRODUCTION OF BUTTER IS DECREASING BUT VALUE KEEPS GETTING HIGHER

Madison, Wis.—The total value of dairy products in Wisconsin for 1919 was $273,553,686.03, as compared with $190,235,814.72 in 1917, an increase in two years of $83,717,871.31, according to George J. Weigle, dairy and food commissioner, who has just completed his biennial report on dairy statistics.

The remarkable increase during the two years—more than 40 per cent—is due partly to a rise in prices of dairy products, but also to an increase in the amounts produced.

Wisconsin, with an output of 70 per cent of the cheese of America, produced 307,385,073 pounds of cheese during 1919, valued at $90,984,372.55. This is nearly three times the value of the product in 1915, when there was produced 234,929,037 pounds, valued at $32,835,922.52. In 1917 the production of cheese was 257,267,414 pounds, worth $63,470,882.69.

Butter, on the other hand, has witnessed a constant decrease during the five years, the result of the higher prices paid for milk for purposes other than churning. The value, however, has continued to increase. The 124,626,971 pounds of butter manufactured in 1915 brought $24,744,714.51. In 1917 only 101,325,285 pounds were produced, but the price paid was $39,583,037.96, while in 1919 the production of butter dropped to only 97,991,185 pounds, while the value jumped to $52,671,233.04.

Besides the factory cheese cited above, there was produced a quantity of cottage, skim milk, primost, cook, buttermilk and cream cheese and other varieties on farms, a total of 4,483,734 pounds, valued at $557,124.41. Farm made butter amounting to 7,952,480 pounds, worth $3,564,550.14, was also reported.

Other dairy products for 1919 include:

Evaporated, concentrated, powdered and condensed skim milk, 6,798,142 pounds, worth $815,525.07.

Ice cream, 4,272,076 pounds, valued at $4,533,709.16.

Milk produced other than that furnished cheese factories, creameries, condenseries and ice cream plants, 912,627,759 pounds, valued at $27,278,832.50.

Skim milk, 2,015,232,835 pounds, valued at $14,106,986.86.

Whey, 2,681,482,111 pounds, valued at $9,285,187.39.

Estimated value of milk and cream shipped from Wisconsin to Chicago, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Dubuque, Duluth and other points outside the state 250,294,650 pounds, worth $7,061,129.13.

The trip was made in cars. They were given a warm reception by the faculty and students. The guests spent most of their time in the gymnasium playing volley and corner ball.

The Training School board met at the Training School Thursday. Groups II and V of the Literary Society gave an interesting program Thursday afternoon.

The senior class has completed plays and games and are now taking up school law. They are also taking construction work in place of drawing.

Miss Scarborough visited Training School Thursday.

Mildred Speers is librarian this week.

The practice teachers for this week are Agnes Nelson, Nona Muthie, Helen Bliss, and Leone Kavanaugh.

The seniors are much interested in their class play which will be given June 7.

NEW GUARD COMPANY TO BE MUSTERED THURSDAY

Manitowoc, Wis.—Manitowoc's new guard company will be mustered in Thursday of this week. Maj. Ball of Madison will be the muster officer. The new company will have an enlistment of 103 men. Capt. Edward Schmidt, former Co. H. commander, will head the new company, with Ray Schmitz as first lieutenant and Anton Altman, second lieutenant. Noncommissioned officers will be named Thursday night.

WATERED CHEESE IS BARRED FROM STATE

SUPREME COURT UPHOLDS THE STATE LAW REGULATING MOISTURE IN DAIRY PRODUCT

Madison.—The Wisconsin law which limits the amount of water to be incorporated in American cheese was upheld by the state Supreme court when it affirmed judgment against H. M. Scott on his appeal from the decision of the Circuit court for Sheboygan county.

This decision is of great importance to the cheese industry of Wisconsin and to the consumer of cheese, because it definitely fixes the authority of the dairy and food commission to stop the sale and offering for sale or exchange of American cheese containing more than 40 per cent of water.

Judge Vinje of the Supreme court, who wrote the decision, points out that it is not necessary to prove an intent to defraud in bringing an action under this law.

He says: "So far as a manufacturer who puts into the channels of trade cheese with excess moisture is concerned, no question of intent, except that manufacture for sale or exchange, is involved. Since the defendant was a manufacturer of cheese for sale and since he admitted an excess of moisture in the cheese when it was sent from the factory into the channels of trade, no intent to violate the law need be proven to establish liability."

"This decision of the court," said Dairy and Food Commissioner George J. Weigle on Friday, "will enable us to proceed with the enforcement of the cheese moisture law in a vigorous manner. This is one of the best laws passed in recent years for safeguarding Wisconsin's high reputation in the manufacture of quality cheese, and I am very glad indeed that the law has been upheld."

COOPERATION PLAN OF BADGERS WIDELY COPIED

(Special to Post-Crescent)

Madison.—The reputation of Wisconsin's department of agriculture and the work done by it in securing the establishment of effective working relations between the Federal department and those of the several states, is widening.

The other day the president of the University of British Columbia in the Province of Quebec, wrote to the United States department of agriculture asking for information concerning the method of co-operation between the Federal and state departments of agriculture in this country.

Instead of answering the letter the Washington officials forwarded it to Commissioner Nordorg of this state with the request that he give the information desired. The Wisconsin department of agriculture created only five years ago, at once upon its creation undertook to more clearly define the work between the Federal department and those of the states and between the state departments and the college experiment stations, and the plan then laid out has since been approved by the Federal officials and adopted by a majority of the states.

MADISON HOSPITAL TO COST A MILLION

METHODIST ASSOCIATION BUYS PROPERTY FOR $65,000—CHANGE BUILDING PLANS

Madison, Wis.—The Methodist Hospital association, which for several years has been seeking a site in Madison for a hospital to cost $1,000,000, has bought the St. Regina convent property at West Washington and South Henry-sts. for $65,000.

The proposed hospital will be built on that site, the property to be supplemented by purchase of adjoining lots. The plans of the association contemplate the acquisition of the home of T. S. Torny, the home of Miss Georgia Hough, just behind the convent on South Henry st., and rear portions of the West Main-st property of Col. Tuttle and Mrs. W. D. Schoenfeld.

Change Building Plans
The hospital association had intended to build on property recently obtained at Wisconsin-st. and East Johnson-st., adjacent to the Masonic temple. Considerable opposition to a location of a hospital in that vicinity developed. The property will be sold to the Masonic lodge.

Rush Work on Convent
Acquisition of the St. Regina property means that work will be rushed on the South Hamilton-st property recently bought by St. Raphael's parish for the Dominican sisters, who have made their home in the convent for years. The sisters, despite the fact that the deal for their new home was completed several months ago, were to have remained in their convent residence until that property had been sold.

Dominican sisters who teach at St. Patrick's school and who have also made their home at the convent will move into a new home recently purchased for them by that congregation adjacent to the church on South Franklin-st.

ASHES OF OLD SCOUT SCATTERED ON WATER

La Crosse, Wis.—Complying with his last wish, the ashes of Dr. George D. Powell, retired physician and former scout of the plains, were scattered on the waters of the Mississippi river at St. Paul on Friday. Cremation took place in St. Paul on Friday. Two sons, George Powell and Frank Powell, scattered the ashes.

STILL AND "MOONSHINE" ARE SEIZED AT OSHKOSH

Oshkosh.—A whisky still and a large quantity of "moonshine" were confiscated Thursday night at the saloon of Fred G. Brunner in West Algona. Brunner was arraigned before United States Court Commissioner Oetlicher on Friday, charged with making and selling whisky. His examination was set for May 31 and he furnished $500 bail.

DOCTOR WHO WAS GASED IN FRANCE, SHOTS SELF

Whitewater, Wis.—Dr. Arthur E. Midgley, 40, prominent local man and former lieutenant colonel with the medical staff of the First division, who has been in poor physical condition since being gassed during his service in France, shot himself through the heart Thursday morning. He died.

Dr. Midgley has returned home from a walk through the normal school grounds. He waited until his 15-year-old daughter Luella departed for school before entering his bedroom and firing the shot. His wife was in the next room.

In addition to the widow and daughter, his father, John W. Midgley, Evanston, Ill., survives.
